However, you should also be able to install it on older Pixel devices. And, of course, you can choose exactly where youeAAAd like the light to sit on the display. Every smartphone has a built-in flashlight, but back in the day,A Many Android phones featured another hardware light: an LED that shined whenever you received a new notification or alerteAAaA gentle nudge that you needed to check your phone, but a few steps removed from the entire screen lighting up. First, go to settings and make sure that notification volume isn't tied to the ring volume. After that, just lower the volume of the notifications. Hi guys! I just got the Android Pie update this morning, and the first thing I noticed it's that my notification led (which was working well on Oreo) is not working anymore. I tried to disable the "do not disturb mode", it didn't work. I'm always using this mode, and in 8.0, the Led was working when receiving messages and so one, but in 9, when in "Do not disturb" the led stop working. Even on tested devices, you might run into issues. How do I enable an app to use the LED in Pie? aodNotify allows you to add a notification ring around the camera cutout on your Pixel. All that said, the app itself is still in early access on Pixel, so it isn'eAAAt officially finished. On Android Oreo there was a special location in settings that you had to go to in order to allow an app the turned on the LED to actually be able to control it. Thanks Hi , Did your Led work ? ?
